

Selected Vocabulary from “Mighty Milton / Wósiksičeka Waŋ Iglúwičakḥe” akhé – again akíblezA – to realize something about oneself anáǵoptaŋ – to listen to someone or something aŋpétu – a day aḥḥé – to wait for someone/something ayúštaŋ – to leave someone/something alone blihíč'iyA – to take courage, stand tough čhažé – a name

čhíŋ – to want something ečhúŋ – to do something eháŋni – a long time ago; already él óḥa – to take part in or participate in something háŋtaŋš – if, in that case héčhetu – that is correct, that is so hiyá – no hókahe – “Let’s go, let’s do this!”

hokšíla – a boy iglúwiŋyeya – to get oneself ready iḥát'A – to laugh hard íglutḥA – to practice, test oneself itháŋčhaŋ – the leader, boss iyáḥpayA – to jump or pounce on iyókiphi – happy iyúha – all, every one kaúnspe – to train, teach; tame khízA – to fight somebody khukhúše – a pig khuwá – to chase or pursue someone or something kḥolá – male-to-male close friend kičhíkšaŋpi – wrestling načhéčA – probably, possibly, perhaps nakíčižin – to defend ohíyA – to win

oḥ'áŋkḥo – fast, quick oštéšteya khuwá – to tease someone or treat badly tḥab'ápḥapi – baseball tḥabnákhapapi – soccer tḥabškátapi – basketball tḥaŋháŋši – male-to-male cousin tókša – later tuwéni – nobody, no one uŋspé – to know how to do something uŋspékhiyA – to teach someone how to do something úŋtḥuŋyA – to injure someone wanŋyáŋka – to see someone or something wawókiyA – to help; to be a help wóphikA – to be skilled at something wóšikšičekA – to be clumsy, bumbling, or awkward wóžuthi – a farmhouse yuhá – to have something yuslí – to milk, as a cow